“Optimized Photonic Quasicrystals”

Mikael Rechtsman, PhD

Courant Institute of Mathematical Sciences, NYU

1:00 pm

Monday, Nov 10, 2008

Physics Library (Ingersoll 3439)

Abstract:

I will discuss the problem of finding and optimizing dielectric patterns that have large photonic bandgaps. Quasicrystals are aperiodic structures with long-ranged orientational order; I will explain why they have tremendous potential to produce bandgaps and how they have been optimized to yield the largest known bandgaps in certain cases.